Comparing the Effectiveness of Different User Moderation Strategies for Deliberation

Julian Dehne

Valentin Gold*
valentin.gold@sowi.uni-goettingen.de https://valentingold.de/Affiliations:

- University of Göttingen, Goßlerstraße 19, 37073 Göttingen

Bio:
Valentin Gold is a political scientist working at the Institute of Methods and Methodological Principles in the Social Sciences, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen. For some years, he was a replacement professor for Quantitative Methods and Statistics. His research in computational social science is organized around three larger themes: empirical and computational methodology, deliberative communication, and transfer services.

Julian Dehne*
ORCID: 0000-0001-9265-9619
https://juliandehne.github.io/
julian.dehne@gmail.com
Affiliations:

- GESIS, Leibnitz-Institute for Social Sciences, B4-5, 68159 Mannheim
- University of Göttingen, Goßlerstraße 19, 37073 Göttingen

Bio:
Julian Dehne is a researcher in the field of learning technologies and computational social sciences. He has worked as a PostDoc at the Humboldt University in Berlin and Georg-August University Göttingen. Now he is working at the GESIS, Leibnitz-Institute for Social Sciences, in Mannheim.

---

*Corresponding author